DISCOVER THE AMALFI COAST

The Pontine Islands

Ponza

It is considered by many to be the most beautiful island in the Mediterranean, probably due to the large number of bays and coves, all enchanting and with easy and safe anchoring thanks to the presence of sandy seabeds.

The most beautiful beaches are those accessible only by sea, such as Chiaia di Luna (the most famous), which takes its name from the brightness of the cliff that protects it, or Cala del Core, where the magma has formed a heart on the rock.

Ventotene

It is the Pontine island closest to Naples, halfway between Ischia and Ponza: entirely pedestrian and of simple and disarming beauty, it is the ideal destination for a relaxing holiday.

With its rocky seabeds, much appreciated by divers, Ventotene is a true paradise for lovers of the sea, diving and excursions. Just half a mile from Ventotene is the islet of Santo Stefano, where the remains of the imposing Bourbon prison are preserved, active until 1965, which made the island completely off-limits.

Today Santo Stefano, together with Ventotene, constitutes the heart of the marine protected area which determines its accessibility based on the provisions foreseen.

The other Pontine Islands

Palmarola Island

Zannone Island

Gavi Island

DISCOVER THE CILENTO COAST

Paestum

It is known throughout the world for its magnificent Greek temples which, together with the Roman sanctuaries and remains on the island, make it one of the most famous archaeological sites in the world . A visit to Paestum literally means taking a real dive into the past centuries.

Agropoli

It is the so-called "Gateway to the Cilento Coast"; the first tourist port we find on the map south of Salerno. Agropoli is a true point of reference for all passing yachtsmen. Don't miss the Bay of Trentova with its white-blue rock that, according to legend, was populated by Ulysses' sirens.

Punta Licosa

Continuing south we find Punta Licosa, famous for the seabeds of the coves from which it is possible to admire the remains of a submerged Roman villa

Acciaroli

A fishing village that has remained authentic despite the tourist boom that has overwhelmed it. It is said that its alleys and little shops inspired "The Old Man and the Sea" by Ernest Hemingway, a great lover of these places. In Acciaroli there is the renowned beach of Pollica, the most awarded in Italy for cleanliness and beauty.

Palinuro

The town takes its name directly from Greek mythology: “Palinuro”, the helmsman of Aeneas. Here myth and reality mix. The promontory of Capo Palinuro, overlooking the sea, offers an unforgettable panorama, while the coast is dotted with caves from which a fairy-tale light filters due to various optical illusions. Among the beaches, the Blue Grotto is certainly the most famous, but we also recommend visiting the Natural Arch, one of the symbols of the town, and the golden one of the Baia del Buon Dormire, one of the most photographed ever.

Marina di Camerota

A charming town nestled in the Cilento and Vallo di Diano National Park. Its Cala Bianca, so called because of the white beach surrounded by Mediterranean scrub, can only be reached by boat. If you want an intimate and private place, away from the crowd, the ideal place is Pozzallo beach, surrounded by beautiful coves. The emerald green sea of Monte di Luna, Cala degli Infreschi and Cala d'Arconte is no less. Marina di Ascea, separated from the countryside by a forest of centuries-old olive trees, is a town located near the cliffs of Punta del Telegrafo where there are coves to explore and enjoy in solitude.
